The Run

Unfortunately the appointed scribe (Appointed that evening) clearly had too much beer and has forgotten to send in the report. Perhaps he will remember at the circle next week.

The run site was the same as the CanAm run we had a few weeks back, and despite the distance it's still a great place to run.

Bang on 6pm the On Sec led the pack off down the road and, after a little confusion, turned right and into the bush. Wednesday unmentionable hash had been there the previous week and their paper could be seen now and again. The first check was a fairly easy back check broken by SuperOldMan, and the pack followed. Daniel Ngiam went sniffing around and followed Wednesday paper for a while with Gary Murrell. Michael Lee and Frankie Soong went off one way, missing a large loop and rejoined paper for a while and then shortcutted back via the road. Golo and gang and the rest of the pack followed the true trail. A number of other runners who knew the trails also took a short cut back with Monkey and Ah Meng the first runners back on paper at 7.35pm.

The Butler for the evening was C. W. Lau who was welcomed in true style with a beer and a song. Then there was a quick update on JM Bon who is recovering well, but been told to stay away from the hash for 6 months (what do Doctors know eh?). The Hare was next with his co-hares Simon Hannon, Abraham Clogg and his son Daniel PanCrazio. The pack determined it was a very good run with Barry Dawe saying it was brilliant and the best run this year.

Interhash Sec is ill - and we wish him a speedy recovery - so the proceedings went straight to On Cash Russell who let us know who was left on the Char Kow list and had anyone seen or heard of Leonard Loh, who has been missing for a while and owes first and second quarter subs.

The main announcement was that the Merdeka Day Run will start at 5pm as it's a holiday. Then it was time for the Bomoh who should have been Ah Hock, but contracted Bomoh Silent Dragon took the stand and called up Andy - pimp my ride - Low, Carlo, and Simon for blocking the food area. The injured were called up which was Alvin Sia for being stung by bees and Kelvin who hobbled around after getting 14 stitches from a nasty cut to his calf muscle – he still doesn't remember what did the damage. So Lim Kin Sea Dragon was Kelvin's look alike. Steven Leong was also caught for breaking glass at the runsite. Charges from the floor came with Yap Foo Hoi and Thomas charging Ah Siong, Kau Peng Yap and Simon Tee for various misdemeanors.

The Hare then pointed the way to the FOC hot Pulled Pork sandwiches with onions and hot sauce. Delicious. Cheers Carlo.
